POWERS UNITE TO BAN FRANCO

Question of Backing Exiled Spaniards Troubles Plan of Three Nations.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 2—Britain, France and the United States pressed today for final agreement on a joint declaration encouraging Spaniards to overthrow Generalissimo Franco. But the question was: which Spaniards?

Diplomatic representatives of the three powers were intent on getting the proposed pronouncement ready for public release this week-end, but France and the United States were reported spilling on the issue of what elements to address.

Report Approval
Earlier, the state department confirmed that Britain and France had "approved in principle" the U. S. proposed declaration, reportedly as spurring Spaniards to set up an interim government pledged to:

1. Calling national elections.
2. Declaring political amnesty.
3. Providing freedom of religion, assembly, and press.

In return, the new government would receive full economic and diplomatic recognition by the three powers.

Differences between the French and U. S. viewpoints were reported hinging on a description of the Spaniards to whom the declaration would be aimed. At present, it was learned, the American proposal is addressed to the Spanish people "inside or outside the (Spanish) government."

France Wants Change
If that applies only to Spaniards in Spain, thus excluding the Spanish Republican government-in-exile, then France, it was learned, wants the phraseology changed to read "inside and outside Spain."

France now harbors a reported 250,000 Spanish Republicans under an elected Premier Dr. Jose Giral.

Hoover Pleads for Food Slash

Name Ex-President Honorary Chairman of Truman's Famine Program.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 2—The only living former President of the United States appealed today for closer regulation of eating in this country as a means of heading off starvation abroad.

Herbert Clark Hoover the nation's Chief Executive from 1929 until 1933, declared the nation needs a "real food administrator."

He made plain in an interview that in his opinion Secretary of Agriculture Anderson should have more power to prevent feeding of wheat to live stock when hungry people abroad could use it.

"Incorrect price differentials" set up by OPA led to this situation, Mr. Hoover said soon after he had been designated honorary chairman of President Truman's famine emergency committee.

Chester Davis, former food administrator in this war as Mr. Hoover was in the last, was named chairman of the group after a conference with Mr. Truman yesterday.

The agriculture department furnished figures showing that there must be a reduction of 25 per cent in domestic wheat consumption to rescue millions in Europe and Asia from famine.

REWARD SET IN TEACHER CASE

Two Italian-American Groups Aid in Search for Missing Logan Co. Instructor.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., March 2—Two Italian-American organizations today offered rewards for information leading to the whereabouts of Lola Celli, 24-year-old teacher missing since last Saturday, as police expressed belief she met with foul play.

They discount a theory that she was an amnesia victim.

Grandview Heights Police Chief Robert Livingston said police now believe Miss Celli either met "foul play" or that she was "not around Columbus." Miss Celli's family expressed fear that she was kidnapped after leaving home for a shopping trip downtown. A high school teacher at West Mansfield, Logan County, she was home on a visit.

The Nick Caruso Post of the Italian-American World War Veterans posted $50 for information leading to Miss Celli's whereabouts and Club 26, an organization of Italian-American business and professional men, offered $25.

False Reports Made
Livingston said a number of erroneous reports that the teacher's body had been found were hampering the search and that all leads had been inconclusive.

Columbus police are expected to be asked officially by Grandview Heights to conduct a separate investigation of 24-year-old Lola Celli a week ago.

Livingston and Patrolman Frank Neff, with other members of the small department, have been carrying on normal duties in addition to the search.

Every clue and telephone call has resulted in a futile search.

While Columbus police have been asked to be on the lookout for Miss Celli, they have not been called on for the "pick and shovel" work such an investigation requires.

When they enter the case they will start from the beginning, when Miss Celli left her home about 10:30 a. m. last Saturday.

Here for a visit over Washington's birthday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Celli, Miss Celli left the residence at 1783 W. Third avenue for a bus at Cambridge boulevard and W. Third avenue.

She was enroute to a downtown store to open a charge account, and investigation by Chief Livingston revealed she never reached the store, nor did she board a bus.

Handkerchiefs Out
Her brother, Felix Celli, a chemical research engineer at Ohio State university, stated his sister "was in perfect health" when she disappeared, and asserted the family believes she was "abducted."

Handkerchiefs found by a posse were not connected with the case.

"We never saw those handkerchiefs before," Police Celli said.

March's lamblake debut yesterday plus reports of robins putting in an appearance this week are promising signs that spring is just around the corner.

Mrs. H. O. Wendling of 614 Farming street reported two robins near her home this week.

REDS REBUKED FOR FIRING ON NAVY PLANES

Navy Calls Incidents "Unjustifiable"; State Dept. Denies Secret Agreements.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 2—The United States told Russia off today for two Soviet attacks on Navy planes off the Manchurian coast and for the Red army's removal of Manchuria's industrial equipment.

The two-play protest provided an unexpected follow-up to the speech of Secretary of State Acheson Thursday denouncing such "unjustifiable" attacks in future dealings with Moscow.

The Navy's protest coincided with a state department declaration that Russia had no right under any Allied agreement to strip industrial equipment from the former Japanese puppet state of Manchuria.

The attacks on American planes both were reported to have taken place in the Port Arthur-Dairen area, and the Navy pointed out that under the Russo-Chinese treaty of last August Dairen is supposed to be a free port, open to all nations, but administered by China.

According to the Navy, the first Soviet attack on a U. S. plane in this area took place last October, and the second last month.

When the first incident was protested, the Navy said, Russian authorities repudiated the Soviets were responsible for defense of the Port Arthur area under the treaty with China and that American planes must not approach within 12 miles of the coast without previous permission.

The Navy rejected this reply, pointing out that the American plane was 25 miles at sea when fired on by Soviet aircraft, and that Russia had never notified the United States it intended to apply a 12-mile limit in Soviet-occupied territory. Moscow never answered this protest.

The second episode occurred Feb. 20 when two Russian fighter planes overtook another American plane near Dairen and gave warning bursts of machine gun fire for about ten minutes.

The Navy declared Russian action in this case was unjustifiable, but acknowledged that American planes had disregarded orders. Disciplinary action has been instituted against the pilot, the Navy said.

The specific reason for the state department's broadside against Soviet removal of industrial equipment from Manchuria was not indicated. It did follow closely after the assertion of a Red army commander at Mukden this week that the equipment was being removed in accord with a Big Three agreement.

The state department said that the "United States has no agreement, secret or otherwise, with the Soviet government in regard to war booty in Manchuria."

RUSSIANS LEAVING IRAN.
Moscow radio said Russian troops would start withdrawing from "undisturbed" parts of Iran but would remain in Azerbaijan province (shaded). An Iranian announcement said Russians would leave Saiman (1) and British troops are leaving Tehran (2), crossing southern border into Iraq. American troops were withdrawn from the country Jan. 1.

RED TROOPS START MOVING FROM IRAN

By The Associated Press
MOSCOW, March 2—Red Army troops were reported withdrawing from three districts of eastern Iran today—the deadline for their departure under terms of a Big Three agreement with the Iranian government—but were remaining in other areas until the situation is "cleared up."

The Soviet press and radio made no comment on the matter, other than an announcement yesterday that withdrawal would start today from those parts of Iran "which are undisturbed."

Meanwhile, conversations between the Russians and Ahmed Qavam Es Saltaneh, Iran's premier, continued in Moscow.

British, Russian, and United States troops were sent to Iran in 1941 to protect Russia's southern supply route.

REFRIGERATOR CARS ON ERIE DERAILED

29 Leave Tracks Near Hepburn; Food, Wine Spilled.

Fresh meat, wine and canned foods were spilled on the Erie railroad tracks six miles east of Kenton near Hepburn today at 6:30 a. m. when 29 cars of an eastbound refrigerator express were derailed.

Four of the cars contained fresh meat, one was loaded with gallon jars of wine, and others had canned goods. The produce was scattered along 300 to 400 yards beside the main line. Crews of workmen were stacking the merchandise along the right-of-way today but it did not appear that the track would be clear until Sunday. In the meantime, Erie railroad officials said, trains are moving over the New York Central tracks.

No one was injured, the engine staying on the track. Cause of the wreck has not yet been announced by the railroad company.

Pauley Still Cool To Withdrawal Demands

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 2—Edwin W. Pauley flatly refused again today to quit his fight for confirmation as undersecretary of the Navy, although Democratic leaders said they expected his name to be withdrawn.

Pauley was reported unyielding under pleas by administration lieutenants that he pull out of the fight, and he gave no encouragement to proposals that he arrange a recall of his nomination before hearings on his qualifications resume next Wednesday.

In fact, he told reporters that after a conference with Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan, at which Pauley said they discussed "votes in the senate," he felt his chances for confirmation were "better than ever."

Break Is Seen for Fabricating Plants in Ohio

New U. S. Price Action Clears Way for Steel Peace; 3 Plants Sign.

By The Associated Press
A break in the six-weeks strike affecting Ohio's steel fabricating plants appeared imminent today with settlement of three disputes with the CIO United Steelworkers and a prediction that other agreements would follow.

A new one-year contract between the Jaeger Machine Co. of Columbus and the USW was reported after last night's Washington announcement that the government had adjusted prices for steel users.

Jaeger and union officials said their agreement included an increase in the basic wage rate plus a production bonus, granting 620 employees an overall boost which exceeded the union's original 18 1/2 cents an hour demand.

More Due To Sign
Eight Columbus fabricators are expected to sign up soon.

A five-day strike of 230 United Steelworkers at the Ladel Conveyor & Manufacturing Co. of New Philadelphia likewise ended yesterday with a wage boost of 18 1/2 cents an hour.

President Joseph H. Montgomery Jr. of the Empire Sheet and Tinplate Corp. at Mansfield announced settlement of a 40-day strike affecting 1,000 CIO steel workers after acceptance of an 18 1/2 cents an hour pay hike.

Violence marred talk of settlement at Timken's Columbus branch as James H. Robertson, a non-union employee charged in an affidavit that he had been beaten as he sought to return to work last Monday.

A twice-wounded veteran of World War II, Robertson accused Forrest M. Morlan and Roy T. Hickman of "about a dozen other pickets" of jumping him when he passed through a picket line. The unionists, pleading innocent, declined comment on the incident.

Company and union officials at Canton acquiesced, negotiating would be resumed Monday after G. H. Turner, Timken labor relations supervisor proposed a meeting with I. W. Abel, USW district (Turn to OHIO STRIKES, Pg. 14)

Pollak Steel Wage Parley Held Today

The conference, in fact, was one of the few developments this week as both labor and management appeared to be marking time in the strikes that have made three Marion plants idle since Jan. 20.

Last Monday Marion Steam Shovel Co. officials and representatives of local 1949 met at company offices to resume negotiations. No progress was reported and since then no meetings have been held. Union officials today said no meetings are now scheduled.

Officials of local 1947 said today there still was no developments in the Alloy Cast Steel Co. strike. They reported no wage negotiations have been held and added that none are scheduled.

MINE LEADER CALLS PARLEY FOR MARCH 12

Asks Soft Coal Operators To Discuss Wages in Light of Truman Policy.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 2—UMW Chieftain John L. Lewis today filed on behalf of some 400,000 miners a 30-day strike notice.

Simultaneously, Lewis notified bituminous coal operators that he wished to reopen wage talks with them on March 12 in Washington.

The United Mine Workers' strike notice was filed with the National Labor Relations board, Secretary of Labor Schwelb, and the Wage Stabilization board.

Lewis said the miners "will continue to work for the ensuing 30 days."

His letter to the three government agencies declared that the issues in dispute between the UMW and the coal operators covered wages, the question of whether supervisory employees could belong to the UMW, working hours and other matters.

Cites New Policy
Lewis said further that the administration's new wage-price policy had resulted in a "significant change" in government wage policy and that under the UMW contract, the wage issue could be reopened.

"This letter is now directed to you as formal notice that a labor dispute exists . . . between the United Mine Workers of America and the bituminous coal operators of this country," Lewis wrote.

The notification to the operators concerning wage talks was sent to Ezra Van Horn, chairman of the operators' negotiating committee of the National Bituminous Coal Wage Conference in Cleveland.

Lewis added that he would "be gratified to receive prompt acquiescence" with the request for the conference.

In filing his strike notice, Lewis questioned whether or not such a 30-day delay now was necessary under the War Labor Disputes Act. However, he said, "since the act (War Labor Disputes Act) still lies heavily upon the statute books, the United Mine Workers of America are desirous of meeting all of its requirements."

Lewis asserted the present coal wage contract could be terminated as of midnight March 31.

Written In Contract
The contract provides that, at any time after March 1, 1946, either contracting party may give 10 days notice of a desire to reopen contract negotiations, the other party to the contract agrees to attend such a conference.

The negotiations would continue for 15 days and, if agreed upon, could continue longer. However, if at the end of the 15 days no agreement appeared in prospect, either party could serve notice that the contract would be terminated five days from the receipt of such notice.

Reopening of the wage question in the coal industry had been forecast since Lewis several days ago called a meeting in Washington March 11 for his 200-member wage policy committee.

Auto and Electrical Strikes Darkest Spots in U. S. Picture

By The Associated Press
Two major strikes accounted for nearly one half of the nation's 400,000 idle because of labor disputes today as a survey disclosed a decrease of nearly a million since the near all-time high in late January.

The principal work stoppages involved some 200,000 workers at General Motors plants and about 175,000 CIO electrical workers at General Electric and Westinghouse plants.

CIO United Auto Leaders in Detroit said the 102-day walkout at General Motors, despite recent hopes of settlement, would last "until GM meets its public responsibility."

Proposal Rejected
The statement followed rejection by the 200-man CIO-UAW GM council of the corporation's "maximum proposal to date," stating it "failed to meet the standards set by the recommendations of the President's fact-finding board." The council did not disclose details, but a union leader listed four issues, including wages, as unsettled.

UAW-CIO officials planned another meeting today with representatives of management and Federal Mediator James F. Dewey.

Issues listed by UAW Vice President Walter P. Reuther as holding up agreement from the union's standpoint included seniority in promotions and transfers, union security, wages, and local demands. The union held to its demands for a 19 1/2 cent hourly increase, which was the figure set by the federal fact finding board, while the corporation's best offer has been 18 1/2 cents.

There were no indications of settlement of the strike by CIO (Turn to STRIKES, Page 10)

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—
PAINTING BASEMENT

Q. My basement walls are made of cement blocks and have been whitewashed twice. The last four years I painted them twice with a resin base, water emulsion paint. The paint is coming off and I would like to use a regular cement coating paint. Is there any preparation for removing whitewash and cold water paint?

A. Scrub with a hot solution of two or three gallons of washing soda to the gallon of water. Use a stiff brush and follow by thorough rinsing. You may need to use a wire brush for the complete removal of all the old paint. For refinishing, get a damp-proof, cement base paint that comes as a powder to be mixed with water and in colors as well as white. A dealer in mason supplies should have it.

RUSTY CHROMIUM

Q. My chromium electrical fixtures show rust spots. Is there any way to treat them?

A. If they are electric light fixtures the simplest way to treat them would be to rub the rust spots with fine steel wool moistened with kerosene. Then wipe with turpentine or benzine (careful of fire) and apply a suitable metallic paint. If you have electric appliances, inquire at a plating shop to see if they can be replated.

YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

Closets and Built-in Conveniences.

The chief difference between a modern house and an old-fashioned home is that the modern house is completely convenient. The plan of the old homes called for spaciousness even at the price of great inconvenience. It made no difference if you had to walk several miles around the kitchen in the course of a day or up and down stairs to and from the laundry in the basement to say nothing of stoking the furnace four or five times a day. The modern home aims at the elimination of unnecessary steps and drudgery.

A recent survey of the pet hates of the housewife indicated that lack of adequate closet space caused more inconvenience than anything else. Lack of storage space for bulky articles such as trunks, chests and luggage ranked high as a nuisance and the lack of well-planned kitchens and bathrooms and a dearth of electric plugs where they were most needed added to the grievances.

Closets Important

The prospective homeowner, or the modernizer of an old home, should familiarize himself with modern closet engineering. He will find that a well-planned closet will hold comfortably at least twice as much as the old one-shelf, single-bar clothes closet and that order will prevail instead of chaos. It will simply be the difference between convenience and inconvenience for the whole family.

On the subject of built-ins, it might well be said that they add more to real modern living than anything else in the house as far as convenience goes. The small niche for the telephone instrument, the linen closet right in the bathroom instead of out in the hall, the kitchen equipment that disappears into the wall when not in use, the built-in dressing tables, wardrobes and clothes chests in

Seek Right To Evict Unsuitable Tenants

Rental property owners should be given the right to give preference to veterans where an eviction of present tenants is justified by the conditions of a lease or by local custom and law according to the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

This recommendation has been made to Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt.

"OPA now compels owners to retain as tenants a large number of families and persons whose conduct is prejudicial to the property and to their neighbors," the association said. "Control over property along this line should be returned to the owner, provided he uses this power for the benefit of the veteran."

WHY WASTE COAL?

Hot-water heating systems are usually one of two types—a two-pipe system, wherein the water, after it has given up its heat to the radiator, is returned to the boiler by means of a separate pipe; or a one-pipe system where the water from the radiator goes back into the pipe, or header, from whence it came.

A further division is between gravity circulation and circulation by means of a small pump which circulates the hot water through the system.

Sometimes a room will not heat properly when hot water is the heating medium. If the room is cold, although the radiator is warm or even hot, this is usually an indication that the radiator is of insufficient size and the only cure is to increase its size. If the radiator and the pipe leading to it are cold, it is likely that no hot water is reaching the radiator. This may be due to the valve being closed off, or, infrequently, some scale lodging in the valve or pipe so that it closes the radiator off. It may also be due to the fact that the radiator is air-bound—that is, it is full of air and will not allow the water to circulate. If the radiator is properly vented the trouble disappears. If however one radiator never seems to be warm (and this is usually the one farthest from the boiler) it is likely that the water is cooled before it gets this far in the main or header and the solution is either to "pep up" the circulation by means of a circulating pump, and to readjust the radiators in the house so that each will heat properly.

In a single-pipe system the radiators nearest the boiler get the hottest water, and after the water is then circulated through the other radiators it progressively cools so that one radiator may be warmer to the touch than others. This should occasion no alarm as long as the house heats properly, because the radiators are sized so that each will heat its required amount of space, even though some are at lower temperatures than others.

If it takes a gravity system—either one or two pipes—a long time to heat up on this occasion discomfort in the home is caused by the installation of a circulating pump, which is relatively low in cost, to speed up the heating. This pump should be installed so that it can be cut off and the gravity system used without it. (Copyright, Appalachian Coals, Inc.)

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

Associated Press Newsfeatures

A modified French Colonial design, with long, sweeping roof lines, gives this house considerable distinction. Its classical exterior, especially appropriate for suburban surroundings, has been combined with a modern, open floor plan to give maximum living space, says the American Builder magazine (105 West Adams St., Chicago) in nominating it for Homes for Americans.

The center hall motif has been used to great advantage, permitting a balanced arrangement of rooms and a symmetrical treatment of the exterior.

One bedroom and bath are on the first floor and two master bedrooms and a large bath and shower stall on the second floor. A clothes chute on the second floor and a trash chute in the spacious kitchen are added conveniences.

The exterior sidewalks are painted brick, and the attractive roof of blue-black asphalt shingles is set off with dormer windows.

Know Your Heating System

Homeowners Usually Poorly Informed on Types and Operating Systems, Industrial Bureau Reports.

Do you say "furnace" when you mean "boiler" and vice versa? Many people do, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau, in calling attention to the need for a better understanding of the public of the terminology used by the heating industry. Such an understanding is particularly important now when many people are thinking about heating plants for new houses, the Bureau points out.

In the heating industry, the term furnace is applied to the combustion unit in the basement that burns the fuel and transfers the heat to air which is circulated through ducts.

The term boiler is used to describe the unit which produces either hot water for a hot water heating system or steam for a steam heating system. Actually the water in the boiler for a hot water heating system does not reach the boiling point.

Not Specific

Many a homeowner, when asked what kind of a heating system he has, is likely to answer by naming the kind of fuel he is burning and not by accurately describing the complete system, as for instance, oil-fired hot water heating with mechanical circulation or stoker-fired warm air heating with a fan.

Often a conversation between a man in the heating industry and a homeowner is likely to go like this:

"How is your home heated?"
"Oh, I have a furnace."
"Pipes, gravity, or forced?"
"I—well, it has an oil burner."
"It's automatic heat, then?"
"Yes, the air valves click open and shut without attention when the hot water goes through."
"Wait a minute. You don't have a furnace; you have a boiler. Is it steam or hot water?"
"Well, I've got radiators."
"Do you have a circulator in the basement?"
"No."
"Then what you have is a steam radiator heating system burning oil."

Requisites Not Clear

Many consumers have only a foggy notion about the three essentials of a heating system: the heat transfer method, the heat distribution method, and the fuel burned.

COLORS POPULAR

Bathroom fixtures for new post-war homes will vary little in basic design from those available before the war. Newest bathtubs will have seals built in, or wide fronts that can be used as seats. Colored fixtures will be popular, but their cost is more than white.

Use American Roof Products

Next to food and clothing, shelter is the most essential to all human existence. When the roof on your building goes bad, then your entire structure is in danger. It is this plain fact that your building is only as good as the roof on it. Countless roofs all over the North American Continent resurfaced the simple, easy, economical, lasting American way are giving owners enduring satisfaction.

You are protected for Ten Years under our legally binding Guarantee. Use American Products in complete confidence on your roofs.

Don't Leave Him NOW!

All the long, bloody way from Tarawa to Tokyo... from the Normandy beachheads to Berlin... your gift enabled your Red Cross to stay at the side of your fighting man.

Though the war's over... he still needs you. Needs your Red Cross.

As he idles away the long, lonesome hospital days and nights he dreams of getting home. Your Red Cross cannot... must not leave him now. Put yourself in his place. Then decide how much you will give. Let your dollars follow your heart.

New Soviet Agency Won't Say If News Is Being Censored

By The Associated Press
MOSCOW, March 2—The chief of "Glavit"—the Soviet adminis- tration for affairs of literature and publication newly charged with handling news dispatches for foreign countries from the U. S. R. R.—declines to say whether the dispatches are being censored. He declares that the stories are being moved immediately upon receipt.

The new system of transmitting dispatches abroad began yester- day. Formerly, foreign corre- spondents submitted their stories to the censorship bureau of the Soviet foreign office. Now they submit them to "Glavit."

The system may be helpful to the correspondents from one standpoint. Formerly they had to take their stories to the censor, then they had to take them to the postoffice where they were filed for transmission. The cen- sor's office was a bottleneck and it usually required about an hour to get a story through there.

"Glavit" is an old organization accustomed to handling affairs relating to Soviet newspapers, magazines, and books and should be geared to handle the cor- respondents' stories.

For about a month last fall foreign correspondents' stories left Moscow without any deletions or stoppages in what apparently was a lifting of censorship. When the big three foreign ministers met here, however, censorship was restored.

Lausche's Primary Opponent Resents Governor's "Snub"

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 2.—Joseph Torok Jr. today wanted to know if Gov. Frank J. Lausche was "snubbing" the Democratic voters of Ohio in his announced plans to abstain from campaigning for re-election.

"My opponent, the present governor," the Youngstown candidate for nomination said, "has announced that he will not campaign for the May primary nomination."

"Is this a new feature of the governor snubbing the Democratic voters of Ohio or is it because Torok is just a grocery clerk?"

"Torok will campaign, Torok will visit every county in the state, because Torok wants to be governor of Ohio."

Top-Ranking Brass Put In for Seats at Atom Bomb Test

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The biggest brass band to witness the forthcoming test of the atom bomb against scapaper in the Pacific. It was learned today that three of the four members of the joint chiefs of staff will attend the experiment at Bikini atoll, the experiment of making a first-hand estimate of the A-bomb's effect on existing armaments and strategy.

General Dwight Eisenhower, Army chief of staff, has announced he would observe the test. Adm. Chester Nimitz, chief of naval operations, said he was planning to attend and the same viewpoint came from Carl Spaatz, commander of Army Air Forces.

However, the White House it was said that Admiral William D. Leahy, presidential military naval adviser and fourth member of the joint chiefs of staff, probably would not go to Bikini. Officials said they knew of no plans for President Truman to make the long trip to the central Pacific.

Vice Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, commander of the joint task force for the test, took occasion at a news conference last night to make two points:

1—"The test of the bomb on warships, aircraft and army ground force equipment is a 'thoroughly joint' job, with all services participating."

2—"There is not any desire to rig this test to favor particularly the bomb, the ships or aircraft."

MOTHER CHARGED IN HERO SON'S SLAYING

CINCINNATI, March 2.—A tearful mother today was charged with manslaughter in connection with the slaying of her war hero son during a break-out from jail.

Joseph E. Elbert of suburban St. Bernard filed the charge against Mrs. Frank Hermann, 43, last night after James March, 24, awarded the Silver Star while serving with the 39th Infantry Regiment in Italy, died of two bullet wounds.

Mrs. Hermann, who was released on $1,000 bond, admitted the shooting. St. Bernard Police Chief William Murphy reported, but insisted it was in self defense after her son abused and threatened her.

Her husband, a St. Bernard councilman, reported his wife was under physician's care at their home, which they had shared with young March and his 17-year-old bride, Dorothy.

Hermann said his stepson had been morose and quarrelsome since his discharge from the Army last December.

Yesterday morning, the police officer said, Mrs. Hermann and her son quarreled. He reported she gave this account of the actual shooting:

The son interrupted the heated conversation to go to another room, returning with a souvenir German automatic pistol in his pocket. He then went to a bedroom, got a pistol and fired twice at her son, who slumped from his chair crying:

SPAIN BLAMES REDS IN BORDER CLOSING

By The Associated Press

MADRID, March 2.—The Franco government declared today that the closing of the Spanish frontier by France and anti-Spanish demonstrations abroad were part of an international Communist plot designed to drag Spain "down into disorder and chaos."

In a 2,000-word communique issued after a lengthy cabinet meeting, the government said the "suffering French people" were not responsible for what it termed an "anti-Spanish campaign."

"It is necessary to make known once again that, under the appearance of false humanitarianism and simulated compassion, there is being developed a new campaign of snares and calumnies against Spain, of which the promoter and active agent is international Communism," the communique said.

Protests against the recent execution of 10 Spanish anti-Fascists were inspired by Communists who glorified "vulgar and common criminals" as martyrs of a political idea," the statement asserted.

Relics of Long Ago In Window Display

A cigar store Indian combined with a collection of dime novels of the pre-movie thriller era, and an interesting window display at C. M. C. The items are the property of C. N. Sautter of 243 Summit street, and both are rare from a collector's standpoint.

The Indian maiden is one of the few in this section of the country and is believed to be about 75 years old. Made of white pine wood the figure is gaily painted and in a good state of preservation. The cigar store Indian, which disappeared from cities years ago, was no novelty in 1917. His background was an apothecary's shop, as tobacco was first sold by apothecaries and was a familiar sight in England as early as the reign of James I.

They reached their greatest vogue in the late 50's, 60's, 70's and 80's and shared interest with the butcher head or steers' horns in butcher shops, bears in furriers' showrooms, and the saddle shop's pebbled or calico horses. They bring various prices now ranging as high as $150 and $200.

The dime novels are from Sautter's collection of around 500 volumes telling of the adventures of Diamond Dick, Old Sleuth, Young Sleuth, Deadwood, Dick Neck Carter, Frank Reade and other crime heroes of the then wild and woolly west. Their popularity is at its height before the turn of the century and Mr. Sautter's collection includes the years between 1868 and 1910.

Programs on the Air

The front page news and radio bulletins on strikes and shortages that have been a daily dish all winter are beginning to be felt on the commercial, or entertainment, side of radio.

The steel strike, for instance has silenced food manufacturers and distributors because they are short of containers. The automotive industry also is stilling-right on radio advertising.

"How," ask the big butter and egg men, "can we advertise something we can't deliver?"

The short supply of sugar also has hit would-be radio sponsors. Their sugar allotment is just the same as it was a year ago—but it has to go further. Millions of ex-service men are dipping into the family sugar bowl, just as they were being fed in mess halls.

President Truman's restrictions on wheat consumption in this country has put the damper on beer commercials (the biggest local and regional advertisers in radio). Standard Brands, the H. J. Heinz Food Company and General Mills, among others, have retrenched on advertising.

Tonight: NBC—7 Our Foreign Policy; 8:30 Truth or Consequences; 9 National Barn Dance; 10 Judy Canova; CBS—8:30 Mayor of the Town; 9 Hit Parade; 9:45 Saturday Night Serenade; ABC—8:30 Famous Jury Trials.

All times given are Eastern Standard Time. Exchanges listings, if any, are caused by last-minute changes made by stations and network.

U. S. INVITES RUSSIA HERE TO TALK LOAN

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The United States has invited the Soviets to come here and talk over a $1,000,000,000 loan.

This was disclosed yesterday by a high ranking government official as President Truman told congress he soon will recommend adding $1,350,000,000 to the lending powers of the export-import bank to take care of loans to countries other than Britain.

Mr. Truman's message said treasury funds will be loaned only to Britain — providing congress approves a projected $3,750,000,000 credit. Other borrowers will have to go to the export-import bank.

The declaration of administration policy on foreign lending came on the eve of arrival of representatives from France — which has voiced a need of $2,500,000,000 — and revelation that Russia had applied for $1,000,000,000.

Four Marion Rookies Boost Cards' March Training Camp Roster to 24

By JIM DABBY

Marion's already rabid baseball fans will have their interest in the Cardinals' fortunes increased by the presence of local talent this season. In addition to Joe Carl Roseberry of 232 Patterson street, who was signed some time ago, three more Marion boys have been added to the list of 24 who will report at the Albany, Ga., training camp March 25, according to an announcement from Judge W. Deane, president of the club. Thirty players are signed, but six won't report for training for various reasons.

Pitchers predominate among the tryout candidates. There are 12 aspiring moundmen, five catchers, two first basemen, one third baseman, four general infielders, five outfielders and one dark horse. It will be strictly a tryout period at the Georgia training camp, Judge Deane said, and the team put on the field opening day may not contain any of the names now on the roster.

The new Marion players are Charles Wynn Jr., 20, of 169 West Center street, Leo L. Harvey, 22, of 859 South Prospect street and Jack V. Higgins, 22, of 677 Bennett street. Robert Milligan, 19, of Richmond is on the roster but probably will not be released from the Navy in time to play this season. He is a right-handed pitcher.

Wynn is a catcher who throws and bats right, stands 5 feet 8 1/2 inches and weighs 160 pounds. He attended Richmond High school where he played on the varsity with Milligan, and also played sandlot ball with a club composed of players from Richmond and surrounding territory. He entered the Navy in January 1933 and served 37 months, 18 in the Pacific, receiving his discharge Feb. 12.

Harvey is also a catcher who bats and throws right-handed. He stands 5 feet 8 1/2 inches and weighs 188 pounds. His experience includes service with Harding High nine and with the old Eagle's Lodge team. He served three years in the Army from April 1933 until Feb. 17 when he received his discharge.

Higgins is an outfielder who throws and bats left, stands 5 feet 6 inches and weighs 150 pounds. He graduated from Harding High school in 1932 and has played sandlot ball with various Marion teams. He was discharged from the Navy Feb. 16 after 35 months of service, 23 in the Pacific.

Twenty other players are included on the roster to report for try-outs. Five are hold-overs from last season. The roster contains 30 names but six players will not be present at training camp, four are still in service and two will not report until the end of school, according to their contracts.

Due Back About April 13.

Wally Shanz, Cardinal manager who this winter has been operating his farm near Dixon, Mo., will bring his selections back to Marion about April 13, Judge Deane said. Other members of the St. Louis farm teams who will train at Albany are: Allentown, Pa., Lynchburg, Va., Winston-Salem, N. C., Johnson City, Tenn., and Garysburg, Mo. The Columbus Red Birds and the Rochester Red Wings will train at Bixby, Minn.

Pleasant Swamps Columbus Foe 65-48; Battles Marysville Tonight

Westerville Tourney List To Be Slashed To 8 Today

Pleasant, Marion county's tournament runner up, entered the class B tournament at Westerville last night with a roar as they dumped Columbus St. Mary 65 to 48. Charles Mayers turned in 27 points to rank as high point man of the evening.

With three of the four original Marion county entries still battling in the tournament (as of noon today) there was a mathematical chance of the county walking off with both tournament titles. Out of the 38 teams starting in the meet, only 16 are left and when the firing ends tonight there will be only eight. New Bloomington, the county's fourth entry, lost its first game to Columbus last night.

Pleasant's lead Coach Porter's squad last night jumped into an early lead and kept it. They held a 14-point margin at half time and added three more points to it during the second half fray. Yell of St. Mary contributed 20 points to the losers' cause.

Bremen knocked out Galena, Delaware county runner-up, 45 to 26. Millersport snowed Delaware St. Mary under 40 to 27. Worthington, Franklin county winner, took Granville 47 to 26 and Columbus University whipped Utica 40 to 34.

Three Marion county teams in the quarter finals today. St. Mary plays London at 2 p. m.

OHIO TO GET NEW "A" CHAMPION THIS YEAR

Bellevue Spilled by Port Clinton in Opener.

There will be a new Ohio Class "A" high school basketball champion this year.

Bellevue's Redmen, who won the title last year, lasted only long enough to take the floor in their first tournament engagement, then went the way of all defending champions since Dayton Silvera successfully defended the crown in 1929 and 1930.

The Redmen took a 51 to 32 beating from Port Clinton last night in the opening game of the district tournament at Ashland. Northridge's two-year winning streak reached to games as the Polar Bears, defending Class "B" state champions, crushed Lebanon, 42 to 20.

PEP SHOWS PRE-WAR FORM IN QUICK KAYO

Barolo Lucka He Has Till May to Fight.

NEW YORK, March 2 — The fight experts agreed today that it was a lucky break for Sal Barolo he won't be putting up his half of the featherweight championship against Willie Pep until some time in May.

For Pep, the 120-pound king of New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Connecticut, was in his sharp, pre-sugar form last night in beating out fleshy Jimmy McAllister of Baltimore in 24 of the second heat of their ten-rounder in Madison Square Garden.

Had Barolo, a two-time loser to Pep several years ago, been in the ring, as scheduled, the chances are the result might have been the same. Barolo was supposed to have met Pep to iron out their rival claims but the bout was postponed last Saturday when the Bostonian claimed he was ill.

SAYS BATTING BET ONLY JOKE—Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, shown above sharpening his bat for the coming campaign, insists that he was "only fooling" when he told baseball writers of a bet with Dick Wakefield of the Tigers. Williams was reported to have bet Wakefield $1,000 even he would out-hit the Detroit slugger and wagered him $1,000 to $800 that Tiger would not duplicate Ted's 1931 feat of belting 37 home runs. Williams' new statement came as Baseball Czar A. B. Chandler declared "gambling in baseball is not tolerated."
